

November 13th, The Hard Truth
Part 9 in the series 'Human'

What were some things from last Sunday's message that resonated with you?

Was there anything you wrestled with?

Jim mentioned that among other idols, many people put their faith in artificial intelligence to solve our problems. What are some examples of problems where AI can help, and what are some problems where AI can not help?

Not everyone is on a truth quest, but everyone is on a happiness quest. What are the differences between a truth quest and a happiness quest?

What are some truths that are hard?

Given how hard the truth can be, do you think embracing the truth will make us more happy or less happy?

When you refuse to embrace the truth, reality always catches up with you. What are some of the results of that?

In what ways does truth set us free?

Jim used the analogy of using a good map on a road trip. In that analogy, what is the road trip, and what is the map we can trust? Should we have multiple maps?

What are the dangers of creating your own map based on your feelings and desires?

Why do you think the idea of "living your truth" is so popular in our society?

What happens when everyone has their own "truth"?

What is the difference between saying "the truth" and saying "your truth"?

Read Proverbs 16:25

"There is a way that appears to be right, but in the end it leads to death."

Read John 14:6

"I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me."

John 1 calls Jesus "the true light that gives light to everyone."

What do these verses tell us about trusting our own feelings and about following Jesus?

Why do you think God made us with a need for guidance?

When we submit our lives to Jesus, do we become more free or less free?

Dr. Jeff Myers says we often look for truth in the wrong place. What are some of the incorrect places people look for truth?
